Branching Out

We are working hard clearing our allotment and would like to say a big thank you to Helen for rotovating it for us. We entered our cooking in the Spring Fayre and Tiffany and Ben won. We have raised the £250 we need for hiring a minibus to take us on our holiday to Camber Sands. We'll let you know how we get on!

Thanks to Steve and Alyson at the Fox for raising £91 for us. We are off to Folkestone to visit Mudpie Craft Centre to make some pottery and at the end of April we are going to Margate to make soap.

Thank you to everyone who came to our recent coffee morning. It was really nice to see you there!

Richard Grayson

Willows

We have been busy decorating eggs for the Spring Fayre. Well done to Tiffany and Alex for winning. We held our Easter Egg hunt at The Fox this year which we all enjoyed. Thanks to Alyson for cooking us all some chips! We have applied for the Heart of the Community funding so please remember to vote for us in the Dover Express!

We are looking forward to our next trip; in May we are having a day out at the Rare Breeds Centre at Woodchurch. We'll let you know how we get on next month.

Richard Grayson

Youth Club

We are restarting after the Easter break. We need some new members if we are to carry on. We meet every Friday in the Lower Hall 7-9.

The Spring Show held on Saturday the 2nd April in the Village Hall was a great success with a record number of entries (193). The Hall had a heady scent of daffodils all afternoon. The Flower Judge commented that it was the best show he had judged.

There were over a hundred pieces of art from the village school hanging around and the standard seems to go up and up each year, which made the judging very challenging. The baking took up a whole of one side of the Hall; we have never had so much before and it all looked very tasty.

We would like to thank all those who exhibited in the show, also thanks to our members and friends who came along and made it such a success.

We look forward to the next one, which is the Summer Show on Saturday 16th July, and we hope to see you all there.

We still have a few seats left on the coach to Hever Castle on Sunday 3rd July, please ring John Philpott on 822954 if you would like to go.

Don't forget to follow us on Facebook.

Regards Trevor

THE DOVER EXPRESS AND EAST KENT NEWS FRIDAY 22 August 1952

Unpacking some of our Dad's 'bits and bobs' in his garage we came across some pages of the above newspaper. I thought you may be interested in some of the articles so here are a few brief snippets from the day of yore.....

'THE TEMPLE EWELL FLOWER SHOW –The Children took the Honours'

It was the children of the village who provided the outstanding features of the Temple Ewell, Lydden and District Produce Associations' flower show held at Temple Ewell on Saturday.

The fruit, vegetables and flower show, safely installed in the village school went on unhindered while the rain in the morning followed by more unsettled weather slowed down the business of the fete held in the newly-opened King George Playing Field. Some of the stalls were moved under cover but others carried on out on the grass.

The weather did not upset the fancy dress parade for which 32 entered to be judged by Mr C G Lines and Mrs B Coombe. The ingenuity shown by the children or whoever designed their costumes was amazing but the results showed that it was not always the most elaborate get-ups that take the prizes. Scarecrow Roger Hardeman walked off with the first place dressed in a simple overlarge macintosh – making it difficult for him to walk in the march past - with straw hair and a broom-stick for arms.

Second prize went to Frances Lee as an Elizabethan girl with Richard Hoskins (The Mad Hatter) third. Consolation prizes were awarded to: bath boy Eric Hoskins, Yvonne Stokes masquerading as an Indian boy and Tommy Chapman as a rather grubby sweep.

The Horticultural show was opened by Mrs Lines, the wife of Mr G Lines, Chairman of the Rural District Council, who said that it was pleasant to see that the village was keeping alive the tradition of beautiful flowers which was an essential part of country life. It was unfortunate that so many of the inhabitants of the countryside were going to work in the towns but it was good to see that they were still interested in the social life of the villages.

Mrs Lines had been introduced by the Association's Chairman, Mr C D Young, who spoke of the gradual improvement of exhibits at the show from year to year. The flowers presented a great variety of colour and the fruit and vegetables were very good, but it was the children's exhibits which drew the biggest section of the several hundred who attended the show. The miniature gardens put in by the youngsters showed that they had schemed their colour systems well and the blending of these colours by David Hoskins (who took first prize in that class for up to 11 years of age) was beautiful. His brother Richard, who took second prize in the same class, was also very good. In the same section with the age limit at 15 years, Brian Mead presented another worthy exhibit. An attractive trading stall was exhibited by Messrs. Fisher and Goodburn alongside the children's produce stall, which added to the decoration of the room.

Mr O'Price kindly presented the prizes. The judges were Mr A J Andrews and Mrs S J Holmans who commented on the fine quality of the tomatoes. The cakes were judged by Mr Hughes and Mr Hammond and Mrs Whiteman judged the bottled fruit and jams.

Mrs Pollard won the Bowling for the Pig contest, which was in the charge of Mr Baker. Other side shows were Treasure Hunt, Dart and Driving the Nail.'

..... The article went on to name the competition winners.

Sadly they undoubtedly exist, but it would be a very hard person indeed who could watch Mel Gibson's 2004 film 'The Passion of the Christ' without feeling some emotion. Invariably for most, I think the emotion intensified during scenes that involved Mary, the Mother of Christ, as she struggled with the suffering of her Son – a struggle which was very apparent to us as we pondered the 'Way of the Cross' meditations during Lent and 'journeyed with Jesus' through the meaningful services of Holy Week. However, from Easter morning until Pentecost (recalling the empowering of the apostles with the gift of the Holy Spirit) there is a focus at the end of our services at Temple Ewell (also Lydden Easter Day) upon the absolute joy of the Holy Mother at the resurrection of her Son, and that focus is a short sung devotion called the 'Regina Coeli'. On Easter morning at Temple Ewell during the very joyful singing of this devotion, I know I was not the only one to notice that a butterfly (a symbol of the resurrection) was dancing at the foot of the Cross in the stained-glass window above the altar we were facing.

Symbols are very powerful things and they often relate at a very deep level in a way words can never do. Contrary to the fears of some, we do not worship symbols in church, rather they are used to lead us into deeper truths. In just the same way, occasionally people say that it is through nature that they are drawn to a kind of experience of God. We can, of course, fall into a trap of worshipping nature rather than God, but without doubt there is a reality and truth in this concept of God.

If God is everywhere, then we will surely expect to find him through our life together as his people, through the nature which speaks to us, and through our burdens when we identify them closely with the symbol of the cross. All around us at the moment in this lovely part of Kent where we are blessed to live are signs of the new life which faithfully return through God's nature each year and especially bursts forth during the month traditionally known as 'Mary's Month of May'. The new life bursting forth from the egg, the butterfly from the 'tomb' of the chrysalis, and so on, are all signs embraced within Christianity to express the resurrection life and they are wonderful symbols. It seems that so many sad and on-going aspects of our world and society, our Church, and for some their personal burdens, are signs more of barrenness than of new life. But if we can identify the symbol of the cross right at the centre of them all, then we can still acknowledge God's faithful presence and trust, and hope and pray.

(A prayer by Rex Chapman)

'Lord , come alive within my experience, within my sorrows and disappointments and doubts,
within the ordinary movements of my life.
Come alive as the peace and joy and assurance that is stronger than the locked doors within, and with which we try to shut out life.
Come alive as the peace and joy ad assurance that Nothing in life or death can kill.'

Fr. Paul

Greetings!

Brownies

On our last Brownie evening of the term we went to Nicole's home and made a camp fire each in her garden. We made a 'lean-to' fire, a tepee fire, a log cabin and star fire. The best one was the lean-to fire. First we toasted marshmallows (yum!) and then we cooked sausages on sticks and on a grate. We had a great time making the bonfires.

Thank you to Nicole's Mum, Dad and Brother for helping with this activity.

Nicole, Delphi and Willow

We still have places at brownies for girls 7+. We meet in the Baptist Church on Fridays at 6 - 7.30pm.

Friday Club

We started March with a Fish and Chip Lunch, which always goes down well. It was delivered in boxes and it didn't take long to devour it - a scrummy lunch which we all enjoyed. No cooking that night.

John Regan, with the help of two teachers, brought along seven tiddlers who sang to us. It is always a joy to have such youngsters perform in front of us. We could not believe how in tune they all were! It was wonderful; I hope they'll come again sometime. We also held a Flower Basket Competition for Easter. There were several entries and one of the teachers chose a winner who received a bottle of wine. Well done to all those who entered.

As agreed beforehand, I took some of the baskets to Kearsney Manor Nursing Home afterwards. They were 'over the moon' to receive these and said how it would brighten their day room. Thank you to all who donated.

With Spring in the air we are now looking forward to the better weather arriving.

Get well wishes are sent to those who are poorly. We hope to see you back at the Club very soon.

Until next time, take care

Yvonne

MAY

May is my favourite month of the year when trees are in an array of pretty blossom, there is a scent of blooms wafting in the breeze and it looks as if nature has its wedding dress on. Everything is fresh and green with the promise of Summer and long, sunny days ahead. The word 'may' can also be used to give permission (yes, you may) or possibility (it may be sunny this afternoon).

If you give your permission to Jesus to become Lord of your life, He offers you new possibilities because the Bible says He who has the Son has life and life in abundance. In chapter 10 of John Jesus is quoted as saying, 'I came that they may have life. And have it abundantly'. In fact, he likens himself to a door and says, 'I am the door, if anyone enters through Me he will be saved and will go in and out and find pasture.'

Come and see us or call us if you would like to discuss this more.

Future Events

Temple Ewell W.I.

We welcomed four visitors to our meeting in April which was a social event.

We had a lot of business to discuss, after which we attempted to complete a Quiz. Welcome refreshments were then served and we all enjoyed a good natter.

The next meeting is on May 12th in the Baptist Church Hall when our speaker, Thelma, will be talking about her life in Patchwork.

This poem is an observation of the life of those youngsters all over this country looking after a parent or another person ~ their feelings and thoughts which must occur to them when they too, feel low.

THE YOUNG CARER

*Just some days, you groan in pain and scream with rage
You shout and sometimes pull my hair
You swear and kick out at the world
Angry, bitter and almost always ready to glare.*

*Off to school each day I go, leaving you with your other carer
Just a few hours of respite – to grow, to learn
To take some exams while I care for you
To go out into the world to earn.*

*Because we'll need the money when I am older
To pay the bills to keep you warm
To buy the required creams and lotions
All to make your life comfortable and calm.*

*I've come home from school now to take over from your other carer
You're calm, tired but smiling!
These moments I enjoy, but they are becoming rarer.*

*I'm only fifteen, Mum, too young really to cook and clean,
But when Dad left us, that's become my role in life -
I know you're in pain, uncomfortable and angry
Please Mum, I'm trying, I don't always need this strife.*

*I'm tired at times, I cry quietly at night.
In our case, Dad broke his vows, it just wasn't right.
Where are all my friends, the ones I can talk to?
While you're suffering, in pain, sometimes hitting out at life.*

I love you Mum, we'll just have to be patient with each other while I grow up – to be.

In writing:

Councillor Mark Rose

Dover District Council Offices

White Cliffs Business Park, Dover CT16 3PJ

Lydden hill signage is now being repaired by KCC. I am also grateful to Husks/Seaways for also working to report illegal parking. Thanks as well to Kent Police and Lydden residents for engaging and actively supporting this long needed action.

Over the Easter period I allocated two full days of my time to record and take pictures of the endless repairs required on both London and Canterbury Roads. I have now submitted a huge amount of reports, some of which works are slowly being attended to. I promise to chase them up. I also requested a full resurface for both road areas weeks ago. The condition of these roads is not acceptable, least of all to motorbikes or cyclists. I have also requested that all white lines and chevrons be replaced and that urgent repairs are done to the Temple Ewell central island, which has been left wrecked for six weeks now.

Finally, all bus stops, yellow lines and parking areas along the entire stretch have been reported as requiring attention and confirmation has been received that works are in hand.

On other note there have been unfounded rumours regarding the ceasing of bus routes. This is not true at any level I have been involved with - bus routes are NOT being discussed to be ceased.

I am delighted to report that Whitfield Hill has been tidied up. It now looks so much better ahead of the Queen's Birthday Celebrations. I have thanked Dover District Council for responding to my requests and prioritising this work.

KCC will be replacing hanging baskets wrongly removed by them at the top of High Street once the Parish Clerk has forwarded replacement costs to them.

You may be aware that the Police Commissioner Elections take place on May 5th following Ann Barnes standing down. I strongly urge you to consider supporting Mathew Scott who has supported a policy of intolerance towards illegal fly parking and drink driving with myself recently. See @scott4kent and @LyddenTempleE

Recent demands from myself, Council Leader Paul Watkins and Dover MP Charlie Elphicke have been submitted for the roadside and hedgerows, many of which are sadly full of non bio-degradable plastics, to be cleaned up. It is my view that Dover Port should also pay towards this as much of the litter is dumped by passing trade, EU transport and tourists. Dover should not suffer due to a lack of Port business' concerns from the relentless activity.

Thank you all for your kind support recently - I hear your views.

Together we will work to keep your environment maintained and your views heard.

Best wishes from cllr-mark.rose@dover.gov.uk

International Workers' Day

In the late 19th century, May Day was selected as the date for International Workers' Day as a celebration of the labourers and working classes that is promoted by the international labour movements, socialists, anarchists.

The date was chosen by the Second International – the original Socialist International, an organisation of socialist and labour parties formed in Paris in 1889. It was to commemorate the Haymarket affair, the aftermath of a bombing that took place at a labour demonstration on 4 May 1886 at Haymarket Square in Chicago.

Although May Day is traditionally a European spring celebration, it is marked by some countries as Labour Day or International Workers' Day.

WWII WEEKEND at DOVER CASTLE

Sat 28 - Mon 30 May 2016 10am - 5pm

For a full-on forties experience, it has to be WW2 Weekend at Dover Castle.

Witness a jaw-dropping flypast by WW2 aircraft and step into the heart of action with the explosive battle. Soak up the atmosphere in the military encampments and get up close to a full size replica Spitfire and a 1944 US Army cargo truck. Meet the Land Girls, visit the 1940s beauty parlour for a victory roll hairdo, then revive that wartime spirit with a lovely brew from the original NAAFI wagon or go for something a little stronger in the 'Resistance' bar.

Step inside Mr Smith's bombed out shop and discover the austerity of the war years from the Ministry of Food. Experience the German field hospital and don't forget to keep your documents handy in case of inspection! With a live band playing music from the 40's and plenty of hands-on activities for children including a brand new assault course - it's English Heritage's biggest event of the year and a real day to remember for all ages. Check the website for ticket prices etc.

Dear Readers

Temple Ewell Players Tribute To WW1 and WW2 - A SONG TO REMEMBER.

Last month I mentioned "The Spirit Of The People". History has often preserved this in song. There were so many wonderful songs of the era and the famous 'Dads Army song' had to be included.

Of course, you can't leave out the evacuees and the youngsters have something to say about Hitler. This is followed by a sketch written by Sandra Hatherway, 'Two horrible children left on the station - doesn't anybody want them?'

The Americans join the war and bring us the 'Jitterbug'.

E.N.S.A. was started to entertain the wounded soldiers. I remember going with an aunt who sang so I thought it appropriate to add variety to our show - lots of glamour too.

There's plenty for everyone, this is a family show. Bring your flags for 'There'll always be an England'.

The show is performed on four nights 11th - 14th May 2016. Tickets cost £7 - don't miss out. They're available from The Fox.

I hope to see you there.

Rosemary Ann Hogben

Dear Editor

Scammers are devious criminals. Scam mail is aimed at tricking the recipients into sending money through bogus schemes, such as prize draws, fake lotteries and sweepstakes. Anybody can fall victim to these scams. The consequences of this heinous crime cause more than the loss of money. It takes away the victim's confidence and makes them feel lonely helpless and vulnerable.

Kent County Council Trading Standards receives intelligence telling us that Kent residents are being affected by scams: 3.2 million people fall victim to scams every year; It is estimated that £10 Billion a year is being sent to postal scams alone; Based on the mosaic profiling of the 1.4 million residents living in Kent, we now know that 42% are likely to be a scam victim, (up to 600,000 people); Scam mail is aimed at tricking recipients into sending money through bogus schemes, such as prize draws.

It's a vicious circle: Victims respond to a scam mailing. Their name is added to a 'suckers list' and sold to other scammers. The victim is repeatedly targeted with more scam mail and phone calls. This only stops when the victim runs out of money, dies or somebody intervenes.

Trading Standards is committed to supporting scam victims and have developed a long term support network for these vulnerable people to raise awareness of this devastating crime through the Stop the Scammers project. We can only achieve this by working with partners, such as Community Wardens, Kent Police and Royal Mail.

To report a scam victim, please telephone the Citizens Advice consumer service on 03454 04 05 06.

A huge thank you to the TE dog walkers.

We fostered a greyhound during the Easter holidays; our home was the first house Bill had been in.

An important lesson Bill had to learn was that there other breeds of dogs other than greyhounds; when he first came to us he was petrified of other dogs as he'd never seen any other breeds.

The dog walkers showed Bill's lack of social skills so much consideration by keeping their dogs at a distance that by the time he left us, he was showing huge improvement.

Bill has two families booked to see him this week, so hopefully the forever home he deserves is just round the corner.....

Many thanks again,
Cara and Lex (and Bill)

What a lovely story - please let us know how Bill gets on. Editor
